Akademische Raumfahrt Initiative Schweiz

We are looking for a Marketing Team

Our student initiative is based at ETH Zürich and inspires students across Switzerland in hands-on space engineering challenges through collaboration with academia and industry. Our current projects are participating at the Spaceport America Cup and developing a Hybrid Rocket Engine.

Following our success with Project TELL ARIS aims to extend its network across industry and academia in Switzerland and Europe and become the Student Space Association.

Students with a flair for graphical design and communication to carry our vision into the world

The responsibility of the Marketing Team is to capture and publish team activities on various channels to increase the profile of the association and the project among students and the general public. You will work closely with the Sponsoring and Operations team. Responsibilities include:

- Defining a corporate ID, establishing templates
- Designing and organising ARIS brand products
- Creating content: pictures & videos
- Creating an outreach strategy for newsletters, events, social media (Website, Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, YouTube etc.)
- Regularly creating newsletters to update stakeholders
- Updating, improving and developing the website
- Helping with the organisation of events

We recruit an interdisciplinary core team of motivated students with a passion for designing, texting and interacting with people. From our team members, we expect the following attitude:

- Fail, get up and learn from it
- You don't have to be a specialist yet but you are willing to become one
- Join the team and grow as a unit
- Be proactive and able to take responsibility

We expect you to spend 2-3 days a week and be able to join team meetings and workshops in Zurich. Since we are a student association we don't hire any interns.

Send us a short description in what you're interested in and your CV (with picture) to
